Selectmen's Meeting

SEWER ACTION

Mattapoisett Selectmen will notify 26 homeowners who have failed to tie into the sewer system that they must do so or face a court order. The people involved will be notified by letter that they have 2 weeks to inform Selectmen as to their intentions. The deadline for such hookup was May 1981. Executive Secretary Stephen Lombard said that at least one of the structures not hooked up has no plumbing so that perhaps others have such a valid reason. All but 8 of the 26 have obtained a hookup permit from the Water Department.

Selectmen discussed a second problem concerning drains and gutter systems which were hooked into the old sewer system and are still connected. This is mainly a North Street problem since that portion of the original sewer was connected into the new system. The Selectmen will inform 24 homeowners that they have 60 days to remove cellar and gutter drains from the sewer system.

NOTIFICATION TO TAVERN

Selectmen heard two reports from the Mattapoisett police department concerning investigation of parents' complaints that children from 9 to 12 years old are playing elec-

EMT TRAINING

Selectmen received a notice from the New Bedford EMTs that they are considering offering a Basic Emergency Medical Technician course. If the response is favorable, they will start classes in September at a cost of $175. per student. Selectmen noted that the town is looking for EMT volunteers to augment the police EMTs and will reimburse qualified EMT volunteers for their training costs.

LETTER OF THANKS

Mrs. Ruth Perkins wrote Selectmen a letter of thanks for assistance that Officer Leonard Dutra had given her on Saturday, August 1.

Letters to the Editor

I take exception to both the venomous tone and incorrect factual assumptions of your editorial of 8/5/81.

It is simply inaccurate to blame a "Democratic liberal philosophy" for the inflationary problems we face. This country has suffered eight years of Nixon/Ford, neither Democratic nor liberal, and four years of Carter, nominally Democratic but hardly liberal.

In addition to the revolution in energy prices in the past ten years, the major inflationary impetus has been from deficit spending and increases in the money supply, created by Johnson and Nixon's waging war while keeping peacetime amenities at home as an unsuccessful attempt to defuse the opposition to that Vietnam war - another albatross that not even the most confirmed revisionist can honestly hang around a liberal's neck.

You, like the President, fail to explain how a deficit created in part for social programs is "spend, spend, spend", while at the same time this year's huge deficit, caused by increased military spending, is non-inflationary.

Finally, why is it that Republicans who like you are so concerned with people losing their incentive are so in favor of reducing inheritance taxes?

one of the more spectacular events of the summer. The constantly changing patterns made by their brilliantly colored sails created an exciting and unforgettable picture.

Even as noteworthy as their appearance was the manner of their coming and going. Arriving late Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning, they filled the beach in front of Camp Massasoit. When I walked into the village for my paper Sunday morning close to 200 or perhaps more of them lined the strand three and four deep. The playing fields of the Camp were jammed with campers, vans, tents and trailers of every description.

On Monday morning when I walked over to the Reservation Golf course for a morning round they were gone and most remarkably left, insofar as I could see, no trace of their presence. Surely they must be among the most mannerly of our visitors.

Very truly yours, E.H. Batcheller.

One of the great pleasures of the summer season, with a long tradition, is the concert on the wharf by the musicians under the baton of John Pandolfi. At one period, it could be assumed that most towns enjoyed such pleasure judging by the aging bandstands on village squares in New England. Now, with the competition of electronic amusement, we are down to the precious few.

We are among the fortunate. The town has always had its share of musicians generously sharing time and talent for the enjoyment of others. There have been leaner periods in both numbers and in skill but always the concert has been a high point in the summer week. The greatest of the new impetus in these concerts for both participants and audience evolved out of the Bandstand Committee headed by Mrs. Alden Kinney, which raised the money together with the Mattapoissett Lions' Club to put a roof over the heads of the musicians to furnish them protection from the weather and to offer a sounding board to project the music.

Of all of the many Lions' projects this had to be one of the most ambitious and of the greatest benefit to all over the years. Bruce Rocha and all the Lions under his direction did a super job in bringing to completion the present bandstand designed for the town by the late architect, John Doran. The result is a structure of beautiful proportions which projects the sound in the richness that was missing in the platform which replaced the stand destroyed in the 1938 hurricane.

The inspiration and leadership of John Pandolfi is the primary force behind the growing numbers in the band and its fine quality. As we think back to earlier bands we appreciate the more than full tonal richness and range of the present group which is the result of so many years of building and maturing.

This summer, the weather has not always been ideal on concert nights but thanks to their bandstand the band has been able to play. Thanks to their skill

I'm a local Tomato!

Every Wednesday and Saturday, local growers gather Downtown to sell tomatoes and other farm fresh produce. Along with bringing you the freshest fruits and vegetables, area growers are there to advise you on how to select, store and prepare your produce. As part of the effort to help shoppers, here's a suggestion on how to prepare a tasty tomato quiche.

Bob's Tomato Quiche

- | | |
|---|-----------------------------|
| 1 10" pie crust | 1 tsp. each salt and pepper |
| 3 large tomatoes, peeled, seeded, chopped | ¼ tsp. thyme |
| 1 medium onion, finely chopped | ½ lb. swiss cheese, diced |
| 3 tablespoons butter | 3 eggs, well beaten |
| | 1 cup light cream |

Bake pie crust in 425° oven for 10 minutes. combine first five ingredients in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat until mixture is reduced to half. Place cheese on top of crust. Pour tomato mixture over cheese. Mix eggs and cream. Pour over tomato mixture. Bake 10 minutes at 425° then reduce heat to 375° for 35 minutes, or until set. Let quiche stand for a few minutes before cutting.

And remember — home grown plants and fresh cut flowers are also available at the Growers Market

BRAVO

Editorial, D.C.J.

Not since Harry Truman have we had a leader in the White House with the courage to make the hard decision and do it. In firing the air controllers, President Ronald Reagan has reaffirmed the supremacy of the United States. The completely selfish interest of a small group of pampered workers who have demonstrated a willingness to break their written oath and endanger and threaten the major transportation system of the United States has been rejected. These ex-controllers who still believe that they can damn the public and bring the United States to its knees still strike. They have not correctly assessed the character of the President of the United States. The damned public has. That's why we elected him.

Pico Beach Assoc.

Robert Brink, a long-time summer resident of Mattapoisett, has been elected president of the Pico Beach Association.

The Association comprises residents who own property or have legal access to the beach and was formed several decades ago to preserve the tranquility and beauty of the beach for its residents. Founder of the Association was Robert Brink's father, the late Boston attorney, Virgil C. Brink of the law firm of Hale & Dorr.

Elected to a one year term, Robert Brink succeeds Robert McGowan as president of the Association. Brink is an internationally-recognized violinist who is well-known as soloist and recitalist throughout the United States, Canada and Europe. Recently he founded the highly acclaimed Boston Classical Orchestra of which he is also the concertmaster. The orchestra performs regularly in Faneuil Hall adjacent to Boston's showcase Quincy Market complex, and is directed by the noted young American conductor, F. John Adams.

ternoon program, August 15th, at 2:00 p.m. Mr. Lenny Euart, a teacher at Potter School, will introduce children of all ages to the rhythms, instruments and dances used by various countries in their folk music. This very popular program, which was first given here at the Children's Museum last year, touches on the cultures and traditions of each country and gets children involved in the beauty of the music unique to each land. Please join us for an enjoyable program for one and all. A small admission is charged non-members.

ADULT WORKSHOP SERIES

Parents, grandparents, teachers and all adults interested in learning simple games and activities to help introduce and interpret the natural world for children are invited to attend "Sharing Nature with Your Child". Bob Bailey, the director of the Children's Museum, will open the door to the many wonders and secrets hidden in our natural surroundings. Rachel Carson, author of the Sense of Wonder, says in her book, "If a child is to keep alive his inborn sense of wonder...he needs the companionship of at least one adult who can share it, re-discovering with him the joy, excitement, and mystery of the world". Be that important adult who welcomes the curiosity, encourages awareness, offers knowledge and thereby promotes respect for all living things. This workshop, for which there is a small charge, will be conducted from 12:30 to 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 22nd. Please call to register.

"PIRATES" TAKE OVER THE STAGE AT SMU

Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance" -- 101 years old, but the new hit of this year's New York theatrical season -- will be the final presentation of the South-eastern Massachusetts University Cabaret Theatre.

Performances will take place on August 20-23 and August 27-30 at 8:30 p.m. in the SMU Campus Center.

"Nobody has ever matched lilting melodies to witty lyrics with more charm than did Gilbert and Sullivan", says director Angus Bailey. "'The Pirates' remains as delightful and as mirth-provoking as it was when it was first written. Just awarded the Tony for the best revival of the year, it is perfect warm weather entertainment for the light at heart."

In the cast are Bill Begley, Carole Kenney, George Charbonneau, Celeste Marien and Dennis Lawrence.

Company manager is Norm Byron; technical director, David Perry; musical director, Michelle Platt; and secretary, Kathy Fontera.

On August 22 and 29 a Cornwall Buffet with roast sirloin of beef and Yorkshire pudding will be served before the show at

The Concord Minutemen have performed at presidential inaugurations and before the King of Sweden. Their membership is national and forty of them including a fife and drum unit, musket men and a color guard will perform at 1 p.m. and again at 3 p.m. Sunday, August 16. They also have a period dance group and an Early American Life Group presenting, not only the military side of life in Revolutionary War times, but crafts of that era such as leathercrafts, weaving and spinning. The latter group conducts an active educational outreach program working with Massachusetts' schools.

The Massachusetts Colonial Navy, the state's Revolutionary War Naval Militia, came into being December 29, 1775. The present unit was activated in 1967 by an act of the legislature to continue the heritage of the Massachusetts Navy which at one time had 698 ships in its fleet and fought heroic battles as far away as the coast of Spain. The present group has appeared in parades and historic reenactments in New York, Washington, Fenway Park in Boston and as far away as Munich, Dublin, London's Trafalgar Square, Gloucester Cathedral and Bermuda. Seafair '81

The historic New Bedford waterfront will be the site of another fun-filled summer weekend when Seafair '81 opens August 15th on Piers 3 and 4. Seafair is an annual festival weekend to spotlight our local fishing industry.

According to Seafair Chairman Roger Levesque, the festivities will be even more closely tied to the sea this year, with all exhibits, demonstrations, craft booths, and foods available at least loosely tied to the fishing industry.

On Sunday, August 16th, one of the focal points of the festivities will be the 12th annual "Blessing of the Fleet" at 1:00 p.m. This annual event will continue with its

Teachers Get Their Feet Wet

MARINE BIOLOGY PROGRAM AT SMU

Using today's educational jargon, we often hear teachers supporting the idea of learning-by-doing. It seems only fitting then that educators themselves should be exposed to 'hands-on' learning. That is exactly what has been happening to eighteen area middle and high school teachers attending an NSF-sponsored marine biology program at Southeastern Massachusetts University. During the month of July these teachers have been studying, through first-hand experience, the marine and estuarine environments of southeastern Massachusetts.

The program, entitled Estuarine and Coastal Marine Biology for Pre-College School Teachers, is a multi-faceted one consisting of lectures by members of the biology department, of SMU, laboratory activities and field trips to local marine and estuarine environments.

Active participation by the pre-college teachers is an integral component, whether this involves walking through salt marsh mud looking for invertebrates during a 7 a.m. field trip or wading through waist high water to seine for local fish species in the Slocum River Estuary. Throughout each experience the teachers' enthusiasm and excitement for learning has been clearly evident.

One of the high points of the program has been the Corsair field trips into Buzzards Bay. The Corsair, a 63-foot research vessel owned by SMU, took one group of the teachers out last Wednesday to the Buzzards Bay side of Robinson's Hole to sample for plankton, fish and invertebrates. Shortly after 1 p.m. the Corsair pulled out of D.N. Kelley's boatyard in Fairhaven to begin the laboratory-at-sea experience for the eager participants. The Corsair was headed 12 miles out from the hurricane dike, which left some cruising time open for the teachers. Some chose to remain in the cabin to chat informally with Drs. James Hoff and Frank O'Brien about biology education today and the teaching responsibilities of pre-college educators, while others chose to remain on deck to witness the approach toward the Elizabeth Islands.

Within about one and one-half hours the Corsair had reached her destination, and the time for sunning on deck enjoyed by some of the teachers was over. Work began immediately with Dr. Jeff Turner preparing the plank-

Hathaway, and the mate, Vinny Malkowski, to prepare the otter trawl which would collect fish and invertebrates from the bottom of the bay at a depth of forty to fifty feet. Carefully the otter trawl was lowered as the mate operated the winch. The students waited with anticipation while the net and two wooden doors, designed to hold the net open as it drags along the mud and rock bottom, slipped into the water and beyond sight.

Two twenty-minute trawls harvested a variety of marine organisms that day. Spider crabs, squid, a lobster, starfish, scup, flounder, tautogs, a sea robin and an impressive sea bass all crawled or flopped about on deck. The students gathered around and sorted through the masses of sea weeds harboring these organisms as Dr. O'Brien discussed the peculiarities of the various invertebrates and Dr. Hoff began the identification of each species of fish.

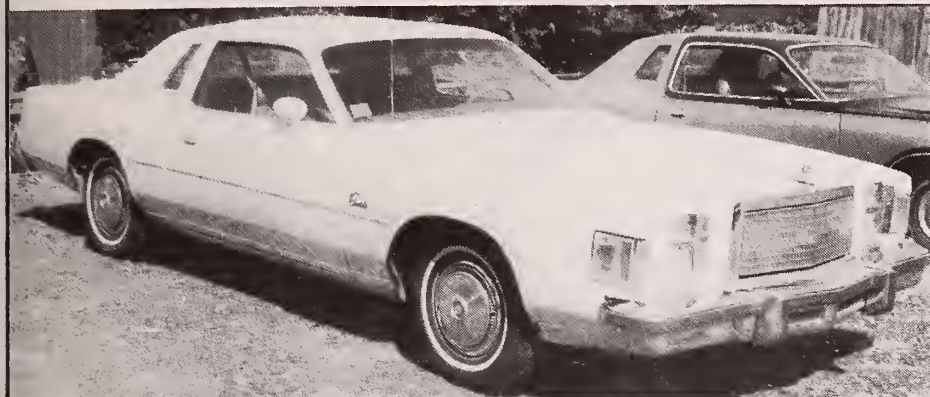

Having completed her task, the Corsair began its return journey to Fairhaven. The participants have attended several other field trips that offered just as much excitement and learning potential. The group algae, fish and invertebrates are brought back to the lab and introduced into the aquaria.

 Daily observations of the microcosms include measurements of temperature, salinity and oxygen content. The microcosm project is one that the teachers can use directly in their own middle, junior-high and high school classrooms.

The teachers are also working in groups of three or four on environmental projects that they have designed. Each project incorporates experimental techniques that the teachers can employ in their own biology courses. In fact, that the teachers learn practical information is a main objective of the NSF program.

The knowlege gained by these eighteen teachers through their 'hands-on' experience with marine biology could not be attained without such a multi-faceted program. Through their personal experiences and through sharing curriculum materials and ideas with each other, the teachers are further expanding their educational backgrounds during the NSF program. It seems inevitable that the wonder, enthusiasm and knowledge gained by the participants this summer will be passed on, in turn, to the students they encounter in their own classrooms in the years ahead.

Plymouth County Republicans

There was an increase in attendance at the Plymouth County Republican Club's Annual Chicken Bake held this year at Leach's Grove in Bridgewater on August 2nd. The increase in attendance may signify a new beginning for the Republican Party in Plymouth County so felt many members of the county club.

One of the featured events of the chicken bake was an auction of both political mementos and other selected items. Jim Pappas of Brockton acted as auctioneer. He was assisted by Senator Ned Kirby of Whitman who helped to auction off one of his famous "Kirby Derbys". Items auctioned included Eisenhower license plates, campaign materials of Edward Brooke for State Attorney General and campaign materials of Elliot Richardson for State Lieutenant Governor.

The speakers at the annual Bake included Dr. Mildred F. Jefferson, who is seeking a seat in the U. S. Senate. She echoed the sentiments of all the main speakers at the bake which was that "we have changed the political face of the nation, now it is up to us to change the political face of the state."

Gubernatorial candidates speaking at the bake included John Lakian, State Rep. Andrew Card, Holbrook; Boston City Councilor John Sears and Cyrus Spaulding.

Lakian, founder of the Fort Hill Investors Management Corp., is running for his first elected office. He said, "I'm sick and tired of what is going on in state government".

Card mentioned that he is well trained for the position of governor having been an assistant Republican Whip in the House since 1977 and a state representative since 1974.

Councilor Sears felt an important issue is returning the power of government to the people.

State Rep. Leon Lombardi of Easton, a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, said he plans to add diversity and balance to the

CRANBERRY QUILT PATCH CONTEST

"The Cranberry itself - from the plant to the delicious end uses" is the theme for the 4th National Cranberry Quilt Patch Contest.

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Cranberry Festival, the contest annually attracts entries from around the country according to Contest Coordinator Nancy Mott. Patches last year were received from as far away as Washington State, Texas, North Carolina, Wisconsin and as nearby as the hometown of the Cranberry Festival, South Carver. Top prize in this year's competition is $100 with 14 runner-up prizes of $20 each. Contestants should submit patches made of cotton or a cotton blend using pieced, embroidered or appliqued techniques only. The patch must be an exact 15" square, plus 1" seam allowances. Name and address of the entrant should be written or embroidered on muslin and secured to the patch back. Entries must be mailed to: 1981 Cranberry Festival, c/o Mrs. Nancy Mott, 499 South Meadow Road, RFD #5, Carver, MA. 02330 by September 1, 1981, the contest deadline. Patches will become the property of the Massachusetts Cran-

Winners will be selected during the Massachusetts Cranberry Festival October 3-4, 10-11-12 at Edaville Railroad, Route 58, South Carver. Winning patches will form the 1981 National Cranberry Quilt, slated to be displayed at major quilting events and civic ceremonies throughout the coming year.

In addition to the Quilt Patch Competition there will be an old fashioned Quilt Sale on Saturday, October 10th, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. during this year's Cranberry Festival at Edaville Railroad.

BROADCASTERS TO WED

Two New Bedford broadcasters are getting married and will be moving to Cape Cod. Kathleen Burke of radio station WNBH and Steve Sharek of WBSM, both news reporters, will tie the knot on August 15.

Ms. Burke will be starting a new job as afternoon newsperson at WQRC-FM in Hyannis and Sharek will be starting as news director at WKZE-FM in Orleans.

Ms. Burke has worked at WNBH since graduating from Norwich University in 1979.

She is a native of Marion and was graduated from Old Rochester Regional High School.

Sharek, a 1977 graduate of Southeastern Massachusetts University, formerly worked as news director at WNBH and public relations officer for the New Bedford Consortium. A Dartmouth native, he was graduated from

SHOW YOUR SUPPORT FOR THE INTERIOR RESTORATION OF FAIRHAVEN HIGH

Community Meeting

7 p.m., Thursday, August 13th

Mabel Knipe Auditorium, Fairhaven High School

(Enter by East door in front of the building.)

For over 70 years, Fairhaven High School has served us well. But the years have taken their toll. Now the time has come when we must work together, as a community, to restore the interior of this magnificent building.

Fairhaven High School belongs to all of us -- not just to those who have graduated from the school or lived all their lives in Fairhaven but to all of us who take pride in the town's heritage.

We need your support and your interest in preserving the beautiful and historic high school building.

Please attend this important meeting -- and bring a friend or neighbor along too.

Bridge Schedule

SAGAMORE BRIDGE WORK UNDERWAY

Major rehabilitation work on the Sagamore Highway Bridge spanning the Cape Cod Canal is underway under the terms of a U. S. Army Corps of Engineers contract.

Work currently being accomplished includes repairs and strengthening of structural steel members and painting of the superstructure, according to Colonel C. E. Edgar, III, head of the Corps New England Division.

While the rehabilitation work is in the early stages this summer, travelers may experience some traffic restrictions during normal work hours, Monday through Friday. No work requiring reduced use of the bridge will be permitted from 3:00 p.m. Friday throughout the weekend until 6:00 a.m. Monday.

Major work on the structure will begin on September 14th and will include replacement of the bridge deck, installation of new hanger cables, continuation of repairs to structural steel members, repairing and painting of the superstructure, and installation of 12 foot high suicide deterrent fences.

"When the major work begins on September 14th," Colonel Edgar noted, "travel will be restricted according to an established pattern."

On weekdays, travel off Cape Cod will be permitted between 5:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. Those traveling onto the Cape will be able to use the bridge between 2:00 p.m. and 5:00 a.m.

Weekend travel onto the Cape will be permitted between 2:00 p.m. Friday and noon on Sunday, and those leaving the Cape may use the bridge from noon on Sunday until 2:00 p.m. Monday.

This schedule will remain in effect until May 25, 1982.

Commercial buses will be permitted to use the bridge in the direction of flow and special arrangements for school buses to travel over the structure in convoy fashion have been made with school officials.

Local police will be on duty at each end of the bridge and will assure immediate access for emergency vehicles. During the construction period, the one-way travel will be restricted to passenger vehicles and two axle trucks. Larger vehicles, with the exception of passenger and school buses, will not be permitted.

For the latest information on the bridge work and traffic restrictions in effect, call the Engineers' toll-free hotline at 1-800-342-8771
